FINE AND FANCY
GROCERIES!

Now the cold wall weather is here, we have to give up some of our Summer desserts.

Of course Mr. Pumpkin is showing his face around town as much as to say, "I am good enough for Thanksgivings," and so he is if you have plenty of eggs in the pantry.

How about a nice mince pie like mother used to make? Just try a little of our celebrated Atmore's mince meat, and then we will let you be the judge whether it is good or not.

In addition to our line of salt meats we have fresh sausage and scrapple every day.

We still continue our stock of fresh vegetables.

New dried fruits are now coming in such as raisins, currants, figs, prunes, etc. We also have a line of foreign and domestic fruits such as Tokay, Malaga and Concord grapes, bananas, oranges lemons, grape fruit, apples, etc.

Have you tried a can of our Beechnut baked beans put up in sanitarian cans? We also have their peanut butter, sweet orange marmalade and breakfast bacon.

Just a word to the boys and girls! Be sure to come see us before you start on your Hallowe'en parade.

Why Buy McClure's?

McClure's Magazine is bought and read in homes not because it is a magazine but because it is the magazine. Why?

FIRST—THE PRICE. It costs but one dollar a year, or less than ten cents a number, for over thirteen hundred two-column pages of reading matter. This amounts in actual bulk to twenty or twenty-five books costing anywhere from a dollar to two dollars a volume.

SECOND—QUALITY. The reading matter is written by America's leading writers—the best short story writers, the best writers on timely articles, the best writers of important serials, such as Schur's Reminiscences or Baker's Railroad articles.

THIRD—TIMELINESS. The reading matter in McClures is not only good; it is not only entertaining, amusing, instructive and inspiring—it is also about the subjects in which you and all Americans are most interested at the time. No subjects in the next twelve months are going to be so important as the question of railroad rates and rebates and the question of life insurance. Both of these questions will be discussed by authorities in an impartial, careful, interesting way.

FOURTH—ITS CHARACTER. McClure's Magazine is not edited for children, but at the same time, there is never a line in it that any young girl might not read its advertising pages are as clean as its editorial pages.

McClure's Magazine

in your home is intended to work only for good. Send $1.00 to-day for one year's subscription, or leave an order at your book-store. November and December free with new subscriptions for 1906.

S. S. McCLURE COMPANY, 47 East 23 Street, NEW YORK

You can earn a good income by taking up the business of securing subscribers for McClure's. It is clean and self-respecting—a publication any man or woman would like to represent. The pay is 25 cents for each $1.00 subscription, in addition big cash prizes for the best work. Write to-day for full particulars.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 3d, 1906.

It is the concensus of opinion that the speech of Secretary Root delivered at Utica on Thursday night, marks the turning point in the New York campaign. It has always been known that Mr. Root was an effective speaker, but it was hardly believed by anyone that, as the messenger of the President, he would "cut loose" as he did in his New York utterance and put such an everlasting quietus on any claims of Mr. Hearst to be considered as standing in the same class and fighting for the same principles with President Roosevelt. There was more than usual interest in this speech in Washington because it was known that Secretary Root went to New York especially as the mouthpiece of the President and it was known that anything he had to say in connection with the New York campaign could be taken as coming direct from the White House. Lest there should be any doubt about this, Mr. Root took the trouble to reiterate half dozen times through his speech, that he was speaking on authority direct from the President. The speech in all probability will go down in history as the most finished piece of hair-raising, hide-removing, vitriolic English that has ever been dispersed by a Cabinet officer in a campaign of national importance. Mr. Root commenced his speech with the definition of a demagogue. He warned his hearers that the man who cried loudest "Stop thief" was as likely as not himself a thief, and he went on to prove that Mr. Hearst answered precisely this description. He went at some length into the achivements of the Republican party under President Roosevelt's leadership in the passage of the Rate Bill, the Pure Food Law, the Meat Inspection Law, the prosecution of the Fertilizer Trust, the Salt Trust, the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railway, the Retail Grocers Association, the Druggists Combine and half a dozen other trade-restraining combinations. Then he assured his hearers that the Beef Trust case was by no means finished and that the immunity found by the packers under Judge Humphrey's decision was only temporary and would not permanently avail them.

With courtesy that Mr. Hearst himself has not shown in many of his public utterances, Mr. Root forbore to refer to Mr. Hearst's private life, saying merely that there were no life long friends and intimates who had come forward to testify to the correctness of his personal conduct. But the Secretary did exhaust the subject when he turned to Mr. Hearst's public utterances and the effect that was to be expected from such inflammatory publications as were to be habitually found in all of the Hearst newspapers. He did much worse than this, for he read extracts from Mr. Hearst's various journals in which leading men, both of the Republican and Democratic parties, had been unmercifully lampooned and then as a clinching argument, he read the now notorious editorial which had called for the assasination of President McKinley not long prior to the actual event. With bitterness that was fully justified by the occasion, he declared that this publication undoubtedly swayed the weak mind of Czolgos when he fired the fatal shot and unhesitatingly he characterized Mr. Hearst as not guiltless for this cowardly murder. He pictured the newly arrived immigrant as being inflamed against the government of the United States when he daily found that government held up to ridicule and condemnation in the columns of the Hearst papers, and he appealed to every decent man in the State of New York to cast his vote against this fomenter of public strife and degrader of decent and rational government. In conclusion, that there might be no doubt as to the source of his inspiration, he read an extract from President Roosevelt's message decrying the assasination of McKinley and said, "In this utterance President Roosevelt had in mind none other than William Randolph Hearst, and I say to you that what he thought of him then, he thinks of him still." The speech had been looked forward to for almost a week, and it was expected that it would be a bombshell in the Hearst camp. But no one imagined that it could be so sensational and so scathing as it actually proved to be. It is believed that the President has effectually quieted any further claims of Mr. Hearst administration commendation, and the utterance is likely to go down in history as one of the most remarkable speeches that American politics have ever brought forth.

Considerable regret is felt in the Treasury Department and in other government circles in Washington over the coming resignation of Assistant Secretary Keep, who will retire from the service of the Treasury Department and go into private business. Mr. Keep is known all over the country, not only because he is a close personal friend of the President, but more on account of his having been the head of the famous Keep Commission which is now trying to straighten out the Departmental affairs of the government and get them running more along ordinary business-like lines. This Commission has immense amount of work in front of it, and it has called into service sub-committees of young men from all the Federal Departments and is preparing a series of reports that will result in very largely re-organizing the government service so far as the methods of keeping records, books and accounts are concerned. It is an immense work and one that has been very much in need of doing for years past. Mr. Keep is personally one of the very wealthy young men of the administration and he has stayed in the government service at considerable personal sacrifice. He was recently made the executor of a very large estate and this in addition to his other personal obligations will compel him to quit the service of the government.

THE TRANSCRIPT, $1.00 per year.

NEW YORK GLIMPSES

Silks of all kinds are of a soft, flexible texture and the "stand alone" fabric is now out-of date. The chief characteristic of fancy silks is their wonderful yet artistic combinations of color, large roses on floral stripes, circlets on plain grounds or blendings of color on the "crazy quilt" order, form garnitures or costumes. In a French silk, brought over by a prominent buyer, seventeen colors could be distinctly traced. Radium taffetas are used rather more for trimmings than for whole costumes and soft satin finished silks are liked for dainty lingerie waists and evening dresses.

Pretty Party Frocks

A pretty party gown of white voile was made up over white taffeta and trimmed with narrow stitched folds of the taffeta put on in a braiding pattern suggesting the Greek key design. Another of lace and silk had the skirt of lace flouncing and a bodice of Pompadour silk in a design of big pink roses. The waist formed a bolero effect in front and at the back, was prolonged into long sash ends, like a Directoire coat. Square pieces of the flowered silk were applied to the lace skirt at wide intervals.

The above design is by The McCall Co., of New York, Fashion Publishers and Manufacturers of McCall Patterns.

Furs

So fascinating are the furs shown by C. C Shayne this season, that already the demand for them promises to exceed that of last winter, if that were possible. Muffs, pereline, stoles and boas of all sorts must be soft and flexible in appearance to meet the demand of this seasons fashions. What the furriers term, "hanging furs" that is muffs and other pieces built up of strips formed of single skins, self-lined and so lightly caught together that each appears separate and detached. These are the desirable styles for all up to-date wearers.

Little Coats

Short jackets, Etons and Pony coats, or box coat models, are more in demand than are the longer coats, especially for walking and general wear. For Automobiling many people cling to the long loose coats of fur or cloth fur lined. Caracul and Russian Pony vie with one another for favor in jaunty short coats of the Eton type, their edges finished with handsome silk braids, and with a variety of elaborate vests, of colored cloth and velvet. Handsome buttons of metal and mock jewels, trim some of the more ornate of these and jackets of white caracul rival those of ermine in dressy daintiness of effect.

Fur Hats En Suite

Fur hats are made of the same hanging skins that are used for other pieces. Sable is a favorite hat fur for those who can afford it but the price of Russian Sable is beyond people of moderate expenditure. Little cravat pieces of Ermine or Sable are worn with coats of the more durable furs with smart effect.

New Long Gloves

The newest thing in long walking gloves, has a gore set in at the seam from a point just above the wrist making the arm very loose and wide to pull up over the coat sleeve. This is just from Paris and is not to be found except at a few stores. The separate "tops" that can be transferred to be worn with any short glove, have been so favorably received that they are now being shown in the finest productions of the glove maker's art. White embroidered gloves in delicate colors to match the gowns that with which they are worn, are expensive The joint between the top and short glove is concealed in the modish wrinkle or covered by the bracelet that everyone is wearing over the glove.

VICTORY

Ever since the advent of Addicks into Delaware politics, the Democrats have been claiming that without money the Republicans would be absolutely without chance of carrying the State. At last they have had what they claimed to be wanting: an election with no corruption. Addicks was eliminated, the Chairmen of the two State Committees entered into a solemn compact not to spend any money; in many districts this agreement was extended by local agreements of the two parties; and the freest from corruption for at least fifty years. In addition to this, the Democrats had the advantage of the so-called Union Republican ticket in this County and the discontent arising from such a situation. In spite of all these favorable conditions, Democracy never got such a beating as was administered on Tuesday. It is true that Congressman Burton had a larger majority two years ago than this year. But in the legislative fight, which after all was the ultimate desire of that party, they were out of sight. Thirty-six members out of fifty-two on joint ballot are five more than the Republicans ever had.

The reason for this victory is not hard to find. Delaware always was a Republican state, but the old assessment and collection laws made a majority out of the minority, by a system of disfranchisement such as no other state had. With the advent of the new constitution, providing absolutely and for all time, for a free vote and a fair count the Republicans entered into their own and it will be many years before the Democracy can make a winning fight in Delaware. It can only come as a result of Republican folly or wrong-doing. So long as the latter party does right its voters will support it; when it goes wrong the voters will turn it down. So long as the present high standard of efficient and honest management is maintained there is no danger to the party.

Another lesson to be learned from the election is that it does not profit a party through its newspapers to make attacks upon so-called "Rings." The only member of the Every Evening's "Court House Ring," who was a candidate for a full second term received the highest majority of all the county candidates. Honesty and fair play in politics pay the same as they do in other branches of human effort. The people when they are voters are the same people that they are when they are buying merchandise or buying space in a newspaper, they are at heart honest and fair.

If any single fact be demonstrated by the results of the election it is that Addicks claims of enormous sums spent for corruption and the claims of Every Evening and other Democratic organs that large sums of money were sent into Kent and Sussex Counties in 1904 to be used for the purchase of votes, are alike unfounded or that the money so expended was thrown away. It is possible that one party's purchases offset the others but hardly probable. To adopt that view would force the conclusion that the Democrats had bought more votes than the Republicans, for the Republicans carry more districts this year than in 1904.

ST. GEORGES HUNDRED

During the days and weeks before and leading up to the election THE TRANSCRIPT refrained from saying anything about the actions of the liquor element in running or trying to run the Democratic politics of this Hundred. We believed that if they were given rope enough they would hang themselves. The result has proven the wisdom of this course. The execution has been effected and the corpse is, unfortunately, not yet the ones responsible for the conditions. For Mr. Cochran, personally, and as a Democrat, we have the highest regard and we have not hesitated to say that if elected he would make a good representative and the interests of the State were entirely safe in his hands. But, and we believe through no fault of his, he was made to stand for the lawlessness and debauchery incident to a campaign such as has been conducted by the Democrats of the western side of this hundred. There is no doubt that bribery on a large scale was intended and the presence of the detective sent here at the request of the Republicans alone prevented the attempt to buy the election.

No better evidence of the determination of the Democrats, who care for the preservation of decency and order in this community, to place the seal of their dis-approval upon the liquor domination of their party is needed than to look at the prohibition vote. There have never been in the Third Election District more than four prohibition votes cast. Tuesday there were fourteen. The Prohibitionists had endorsed the candidacy of Mr. Corbit and the ten Democrats who voted the Prohibition ticket were enough in themselves to elect him.

The election of the two Republican Road Commissioners and the Assessor is evidence of the satisfaction of the tax-payers with the management of affairs for the past year and the dissatisfaction with the poor assessment made in 1905 and 1906. The next four years will be marked on the part of the Road Commissioners with the same care, honesty and ability as in the past. The successful candidates are that kind of men.

On the whole the people of St. Georges Hundred are to be sincerely congratulated for the magnificent victory accorded to the whole Republican ticket. And in saying this we do not want to intimate the Democrats are as much included as are the Republicans, for we think that they will now purge themselves of the load they have been carrying for years. If they do not, the people will at the ensuing elections.

Since the above was written, Mr. Cochran has filed a petition for a recount of the ballots that were rejected in the Third and Fourth Districts, claiming that enough valid ballots were rejected to elect him if counted. At this time we are unadvised of the result of the recount, but have no fears of outcome. Republicans never yet lost by a recount.

AGRICULTURAL COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

Educators are watching with considerable interest the introduction of county agricultural high schools where farmers' boys and girls can receive a training that will have a more direct bearing on agricultural pursuits. Delaware has not started one yet but over in Cecil County, Maryland, the first experiment has been tried. This school is situated at Calvert and has the endorsement of leading educators of all parts of the county and state. The success of this school will be watched from many parts of the country. Wisconsin has three successful county agricultural high schools. New York requires agriculture taught in the State normal schools. Missouri also requires agriculture to be taught in the public schools. Georgia spends $6,000 a year in each congressional district to help in the teaching of agriculture in its common schools. Maryland is not slow in realizing the needs of the farmer boy and girl and now comes forward with a county agricultural high school in the rich farming section of Cecil county.

LETTER TO JOHN ARMSTRONG

Middletown, Del.

Dear Sir. A pound of good meat and no bone is worth more than a half-pound of meat and a half-pound of bone; but there are, as you say, a great many people who won't pay more than a certain price by the pound. Give 'em bone; that's right; give 'em plenty of bone!

There are people who won't pay more than $1.50 a gallon for paint: give 'em bone!

There's no better school than experience; cost is high; but the lesson is never forgotten.

Let a man paint two houses alike, same size; one Devoe, the other that $1.50 paint. He buys 10 gallons of each, and pays $3 a day for labor—$3 a day is $3 a gallon, easier reckoning.

He has to buy two gallons more of the $1.50 paint; and has two gallons left of Devoe: 12 gallons $1.50, $18; 8 gallons $1.75, $14; $4 more for "cheap" paint.

He pays $3 a gallon for painting: 8 gallon $24; 12 gallons $36; $12 more for painting "cheap" paint.

He'll buy the less gallons paint after that. If people are slow to learn, it's because they keep-on buying bone meat. Give 'em plenty of bone.

Yours truly
F W DEVOE & Co

A CURE FOR INTEMPERANCE

A Southern doctor in attendance at a recent medical convention at a dinner at which the question of intoxication and its cure was discussed made a statement which was regarded by some of the physicians and laymen who were listening to him as remarkable.

He said that he had given a good deal of attention to the question of inebriety and its prevention or cure and stated that he had found that the creating of an appetite for fruits was the best and in fact the only remedy for the disease. Fruit he said will destroy entirely the taste for liquor and in his experience he had never found a man that was fond of fruit, who at the same time had an appetite for drink. On the contrary, he said, nobody ever saw a drunkard who cared for fruit.

The remedy is so simple that it is worth considering and experimentation is within reach of everyone.

DEMAND FOR SUGAR CORN

New Castle County farmers and principally those in Red Lion Hundred are considerably elated over the news that Charles W. Pancoast will need 130 acres more of sugar corn in 1907 than in the past season. This means thousands of dollars in that section for the farmers and the help to be employed in the cannery. The corn used in the cannery comes from stock raised off Nebraska seed, supplied free by the proprietor of the cannery. The farmers have but little work with the corn and haul it in the husks to the cannery where they get $7.50 a ton for the product.

Proclamation!

In accordance with established custom and following the recommendation of the President of the United States,

I, Preston Lea, Governor of the State of Delaware, do hereby designate THURSDAY, NOVEMBER THE TWENTY-NINTH INSTANT, as a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer, and do recommend that the people of this State on that day refrain from their usual vocation and, in their homes and places of worship, offer acknowledgment to Almighty God for his many blessings, and prayers for the continuance of his Divine favor.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of said State to be affixed, at Dover, this first day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and six and in the year of the independence of said State the one hundred and thirty-first.

By the Governor:
PRESTON LEA.

MAIL ORDERS!

What does ordering by mail mean?

This is the question that is asked our employees hundreds of times every day by customers who live out of the city, and only reach this store four or five times a year. This is our answer to them and to you if you do not know:

In every well regulated store there is a department set aside for filling "Mail Orders," or orders that arrive by mail. It is the duty of the men and women in this department to open these orders, read them, go to the different departments and buy the goods asked for in that letter the same if the person was here in person and doing the shopping themselves.

Often times when shopping around, these shoppers find two or more articles that will answer, and at the same price as our customers, miles away wants to pay for it—then it is that the fair dealings of this store is demonstrated—for these men and women are instructed when ever possible to give the mail orders the preference over every other sale.

If there is any article that you need, and that is sold by us, don't wait until you make a trip to this city but send in your order by mail accompanied with the money and we will deliver that article to you in as good condition and as promptly as though you bought it yourself.

Orders filled the same day as received; for prompt delivery address, Mail Order Department.

SATURDAY'S RACES

Interesting Program at the New Driving Park Near Town

The races at the Middletown Driving Park on Saturday afternoon last. were well attended, and the gentlemen who have given so much of their time during the past few weeks to make the opening of the new park a success, are to be congratulated. The races were witnessed by more than 1,000 people, many being present from Wilmington and other towns throughout the State.

There were six racing events besides two exhibition miles to beat track records on this peninsula. The judges were Dr. Koons, of Dover, who acted as starting judge, and he proved himself the right man in the right place, his work being excellent and satisfactory to all, being equal to most of the Grand Circuit starters; his associates were Col. S. B. Foard, of Elkton and Mr. Herbert M. Price. The track, comparatively a new one, was in fair condition and the horses made excellent showing considering its being somewhat unsettled. The first race on the program was for three year olds and was hotly contested, as were all the other events. The summaries follow:

Three year old colt race—

Prince March, Jr., b. s.	1	1
Phyllis Directum, b. m.	2	5
Lady Bess, b. m.	3	2
Archeen, b. g.	4	3
Jay B-y, b. g.	5	4

Time—2.59½, 2.59½.
2.35 class, mixed (unfinished)

Digans Brook, b g	1	2
Garator, b g	3	1
George D, s g	2	3

Time—2 39½, 2 40.
Match race, mile dash.

Prince March, b g	1
Elsie G, b m	2

Time—2 16½.
2.25 trot.

Lady Emma	1	1
George Burdine	2	3
Jim Russell	3	2
Del Brook	5	5
John T	4	4

Time—2 29½, 2 30½.
2 30 pace (unfinished)

Sapho	1	2
Bohemia Boy	2	1

Time—2 42, 2.35.
Special race.

Dan Wilkes	1	1
Townsend Girl	2	2

Time—2 21½, 2 27½.

One of the most interesting races on the program was the three-year-old-race and Prince March, Jr., by Prince March, 2 16½, Mr. C. M. Cochran's speedy pacer, was an easy winner, taking the first heat in 2 45 and the second in 2.38½. Since making the above record, Prince March, Jr., has made a half on the same track in in 1.14.

A feature of the afternoon was the two exhibition miles, one by Barnett B, with a record of 2 06½ to beat all records for Peninsula horses. W. B. Biggs was behind the favorite and after warming the horse to his work, sent him off with a runner at his wheel. The time was 2.12, which was announced as being fast considering the condition of the track.

Another interesting feature on the program was the exhibition mile by the great three-year-old stallion, Urin, belonging to Mr. Herbert M. Price, of near this town. This youngster is a wonder for his age, and promises to lead the world's record in a few years. Not yet three years old and with a record of 2.11½ there is little doubt of it. He was driven by his owner unattended, and with out a skip or break come down the home stretch and passed under the wire in 2.16.

George L. Townsend, Jr., trustee in bankruptcy of the estate of Christopher J. Vandegrift, sold the real estate and personal property on Wednesday morning at his residence, near Port Penn. The "Geraldville Farm," containing 100 acres, was bought by George L. Townsend, Sr., for $6,650. The "Jefferson Farm," containing 179 acres, was bought by John G. Armstrong for $6,800. The "Wilson Vandegrift Farm" containing 360 acres, was bought by Edward Pleasanton for $900, subject to a mortgage of $5,650 and the "Rumbley Farm," containing 168 acres, was bought by Henry Cleaver for $3,000.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY IN DELAWARE

The Entire State and County Tickets Elected

OLD ST. GEORGES IN LINE

The Republicans Have a Large Majority in the Legislature

The predictions of the Republican leaders for a sweeping Republican victory in Delaware came true Tuesday. The state returns about 3,000 majority for Congressman Burton for a second term, and State Treasurer Thomas N. Rawlins is elected by about the same figures, and Thomas C. Roe is elected state auditor. The Republicans elect their county by about 1000 majority despite the Union Republican ticket remaining in the field and over the Democratic ticket. The next Legislature will be solidly Republican—in fact more so than it has been under the new constitution. The Republicans will have twenty-four members of the House—two thirds of that body—and there will be eleven Republicans in the State Senate—just one short of the two-thirds that would be necessary to enable them to put through legislation of a partisan nature.

In New Castle county the Republicans elected eleven members of the House and two Senators, and the Democrats elect four members of the House and two Senators. In this vicinity the Republicans won out for the Legislature in the Thirteenth district (St. Georges) by a majority of 15 after a stubborn fight. This district with Appoquinimink and Blackbird furnished the most startling figures for the Democrats, who imagined they were safely Democratic. Dissatisfaction with the nominations in these districts lost many Democratic votes. Richard Hodgson, Republican, was elected representative in the Fourteenth district (Appoquinimink) by a majority of 40. In the Fifteenth district (Blackbird) Wilmer C. Staats, Republican, triumphed over A. J. Wright, Democrat, by a major of 6. Many Democrats in the hundred turned in for Mr. Staats, because they had enough of Wright and were dissatisfied with his nomination.

In Kent county the Republicans elected seven representatives and three Senators while the Democrats elected three representatives and one Senator. In Sussex county the Republicans elect eight representatives and four of the Senators, while the Democrats get but two representatives. Kent county's Republican majority is about 350 and that of Sussex county is estimated at 1100. The initiative and referendum was endorsed by an overwhelming majority, the vote being about ten in favor to one against.

REPUBLICAN SWEEP ENTIRE COUNTRY

Returns from most of the states east of the Mississippi River indicate the re-election of a Republican House of Representatives by a sweeping majority and an increase in the Republican strength in the United States Senate. It was to be expected that the abnormal Republican plurality in the present House—114—would be reduced. But Democratic gains were scattering and no signs developed anywhere of a positive reaction against Republican policies. The record of the administration was the issue in practically every state except New York and Massachusetts and that record was handsomely vindicated. The Republican majority in the lower branch of Congress will probably be between sixty-five and seventy-five. The next House of Representatives will stand about as follows: Republicans, 228; Democrats, 158.

The contest in Maryland was confined to Congressmen. In Baltimore City a judge of the Supreme bench was elected. These Congressmen were elected: First District, W. H. Jackson, Rep.; Second District, J. Fred Talbott, Dem.; Third District, H. B. Wolf, Dem.; Fourth District, John Gill, Dem.; Fifth District, Sydney E. Mudd, Rep; Sixth District, George A. Pearre, Rep. Interest centred in the 1st and 5th Districts. In the former, composed of the counties east of the Chesapeake Bay, it was the bitter fight between Congressman Tom Smith, Dem., and ex-Congressman W. H. Jackson, Rep., of 1904 over again. Smith then carried the district by 500. Under the Illiterates Disfranchising law hundreds of votes, mostly those of negroes, were thrown out. Jackson carried the contest to the House of Representatives, where it dragged along the entire session.

White clay—Oliver Appleby, John Whiteman.

New Castle—James B. Hance, Alfred Sterling.

Pencader—W. H. Huggins, Jefferson Lomax.

Red Lion—Authur Hope, John F. Kane.

St. Georges—Albert Bendler, John C. Green.

Appoquinimink—George W. Daniels, Howard D. Ratledge.

Blackbird—John C. David, Horace S. Vandyke.

SOMETHING WONDERFUL

Mr. Joseph A. Suydam 56 years of age, of Middletown, who was deaf for 35 years was worked upon by the Quakerine Co, at the Middletown Opera House Wednesday evening in full view of the audience, after which Mr. Suydam heard a low conversation 6 feet away. They also worked upon ThomasMcWhorter of Broad St., Middletown, who has been deaf all of his life in his left ear, after they worked upon him he heard the ticking of a hunting case watch, the hardest test in the world.

We understand they treat all cases free, no matter how long standing.
